With all the wedding festivities concluded, you’re ready to reward yourselves with a well-deserved escape. Special ideas for a lovely twosome’s timeout come from south of the border, where life naturally flows at a slower pace. Each of these Mexican destinations offers its own version of the romantic retreat, as well as whatever measures of fiesta you’d like. Choose from three beloved seaside sites where you can unwind by the waves, or go instead for a colonial city getaway, filled with art and history. — Jane Naylor

PLAYA DEL CARMEN

Tucked into a thick spread of palm trees, the low-lying, laid-back Mahékal Beach Resort claims the longest stretch of Riviera Maya sand in the area with its 800 feet of Caribbean beachfront. Roughly an hour closer to Cancún than Tulum, Playa has become a significant playground along this reach of the Yucatán Peninsula — but the chill qualities at Mahékal provide peaceful respite from the nearby party scene. Best of all picks are the seafront bungalows, sprawling suites with ample bathrooms, private patios, secluded plunge pools and outdoor showers. Thatched-roof design throughout the resort exudes that casual Mexican beach feel, but every luxury detail is in place, from beautiful upholstery in rooms, restaurants and common areas to posh bath products in rooms and superb wine lists at restaurants. The Mayan Culinary Casita provides an old-world dining and history experience, while a new chef-engineered program lets you pick out your own catch from a haul delivered to the beach by local fishermen. Want a private dinner by candlelight on the beach? That can be arranged. Morning yoga followed by a couple of hours in the spa is heavenly (get the massage including reiki therapy), and a guided trip to the jungle to swim in one of the famous cenotes (underground cave pools) is magical. Ask about one of the Mayan spiritual blessing ceremonies, too. Fly into the Cancún airport; from there, the drive is about an hour. Visit mahékalbeachresort.com.
